Letter from the Director

December 2010

The past few months have been a very busy and encouraging time, as we have prepared for and then held the MMM NZ Conference at Totara Springs, which was followed by the National Directors' and the International Board meetings at Pirongia. The Conference provided a great environment where people were encouraged by what God is doing - in and through the work that MMM carries out and also by what is happening in people's lives. Many were strengthened knowing they were where God wanted them to be. The weekend was made more special by the presence of a number of MMM'ers from other Centres including, Australia, Hong Kong, Fiji and Zambia, along with International Board members from Canada, Singapore, Thailand, Australia and Zambia.

We were indeed privileged to have such a group of committed 'mission minded' people with a global view, meeting together to encourage and plan for the future growth and well being of the ministry of MMM.

Many of you who will have noticed the 'classified advert' in this magazine over the past few issues as the MMM Board is endeavouring to find a replacement for my position as we seek to put a succession plan in place. So far no appointment has been made although interest has been expressed. My wife Pam and I have therefore agreed that I should continue in this role for at least the next six months and if necessary through until the end of 2011. Please continue to pray with us that the person of God's choosing will be found for this role.

As another busy and eventful year is rapidly drawing to a close, I would like to give thanks to God for all His provision during 2010. We as a team have been encouraged by all who have supported this ministry, either by joining a work team here in NZ or overseas, by praying, by encouraging, or by giving financially - together we have made a difference.

May we all enjoy a blessed Christmas as we remember the birth of the One whom we serve.

Blessings,

Bruce Alchin
Director.

Mission Statement

MMM International exists to spread the gospel of Jesus Christ by building, renovating and maintaining facilities used in Christian outreach. It supports and encourages Christian work and workers while creating awareness of global missions and challenging people to become involved.

Vision Statement

To see the Church operate with adequate facilities for people of every nation, people and language to worship the living God. To see believers empowered, equipped and mobilised to fulfill The Great Commission.

Conference

The MMM New Zealand biennial Conference was held at Totara Springs Christian Centre over the weekend of 5th to 7th November. Including several 'day visitors', around ninety people attended Conference. With eleven visitors from overseas this added a great 'flavour' to the weekend.

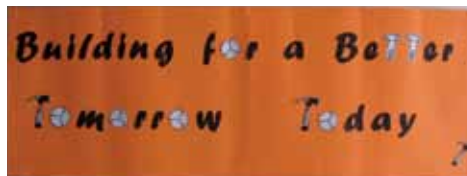

Friday night commenced with a 'show and tell' of old and interesting tools. Some were family heirlooms and others so modern people gasped at what they could do.

Terry Phillips from Singapore is a member of the MMM International Board and was the first speaker on Saturday morning. He began the weekend by enlarging and developing the theme for the weekend "Building for a Better Tomorrow Today". Annette Hill, a NZ missionary in Thailand is also a member of the MMM International Board and she also addressed the theme. Annette said that "to build for a better future, we need to know the foundation we're building on". "God is always there, our purpose is to make Him visible."

The Robinson family (my how those children have grown!) sent a video to Conference from Hong Kong which also included greetings from Harry Joe. This was followed by a power point presentation from David Halse as he told about some of the projects MMM has assisted with in NZ this year. Bill and Pam Todd gave an encouraging report about the work of MMM in Fiji.

After lunch it was time to relax, just sit and chat or get active and enjoy the Hydroslide, Petanque, Indoor Bowls, Go Karts, Hot Pool, Mini Golf or Table Tennis. The rest of Saturday afternoon was spent at the Workshops: Erica Wilson took her group out under the shade of an Oak tree, teaching them about what to do if you come across an unconscious person. Jim Beattie talked about the use and benefits of Paint+ products. David and Jenny Halse had a small group of mainly new comers to MMM. They talked about how MMM functions, under the heading "How do you build for a better tomorrow today". Terry Phillips told his workshop about Christian work in China. John King (Wycliffe Bible Translators and MMM International Board member) took the evening program. He used a violin bow to play great music on a saw (yes the sort to cut wood!). He interspersed each tune with humorous stories and serious talks about life skills. The camp had a fireworks display down the back of the property for the local community to which MMM was invited. It was safer and easier for most to watch at a distance from the comfort of the deck at the lodges!

On Sunday morning Howard Robinson gave an excellent message, challenging us to daily ask "What areas of my life is God going to work on today?" "It is more about what God is doing 'in me' than what He is doing through me." This was followed by a very moving time of communion and worship led by David Halse. Ernie Pene and Haapi Wilson, with Ruth Carson on the keyboard and Jenny Utting on violin, very ably led the singing over the weekend.

The Conference finished with Graham Young, International Director of MMM giving an overview of the international work of MMM. He invited the Directors from each country represented, to give a report; Tim Cranna, Director of MMM Australia, Leonard Mutono, Director of MMM Zambia and Howard Robinson, Director of MMM Hong Kong each gave very encouraging and interesting reports.

This was the first time MMM has held a conference during 'daylight saving' and with beautiful weather it made for a great weekend.

International Board meetings

The International Board of MMM was established one year ago. They held their first meeting in Melbourne in early December 2009. New Zealand was chosen for the second meeting of the Board and it was timed to coincide with the MMM NZ Conference.

There were two separate meetings involving these international visitors over the three days following the conference. They were held in Pirongia and guests were accommodated at the MMM Pirongia Centre and in private homes.

The National Directors and Chair of National Boards from Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong and Zambia along with the International Board members spent a profitable day of discussion and encouragement with important policy matters being considered. We heard from MMM Australia about their moving on and setting new directions following the disastrous bush fire in 2009. From New Zealand came reports of much achieved in the past year in New Zealand as well as in Fiji. Howard Robinson and Andrew Wong from Hong Kong noted that MMM is still not well known among Hong Kong Christians, never the less there continues to be growth in ministries assisted and volunteers available. And Zambia Director Leonard Mutono gave an enthusiastic report about continued progress with the Vocational Training program as well as the recently established Better Housing Program using the roll forming machine. From all centres it was very clear that to ensure sustainability, a major focus needs to be on people and seeing financial needs met.

governance and operational principles for the board and further develop policies for the wider MMM family. Among the goals of the board is to build on the already good relationship between all centres, assist with bringing the transitional centres of Thailand and South Africa into the wider MMM family and work towards establishing an MMM presence in new places.

Following the past practice of rotation of international meetings, it is planned for the 2011 meeting to be in Hong Kong and in 2012 in Zambia.

International guests from seven countries enjoyed wonderful warmth and friendship from all associated with MMM New Zealand.

Graham Young, International Director

The two day meeting of the International Board was very productive as they met face to face for the second time. The six board members come from five different countries and bring a wealth of experience from mission and business to the table. It is anticipated that additional members will be appointed in the coming period. A major focus of this meeting was to establish

Work Reports

New Zealand

Full-time staff members on the Work Team: Ian Cross, Andrew Frazier, David Halse, Rod Heape.

North Island:

Titoki Healing Centre near Whakatane “offer people opportunities to experience wholeness, enrichment and transformation of life through Jesus Christ”. MMM teams always enjoy the peaceful atmosphere when working there. In September David, Rod and Ian renovated a wheelchair bathroom at the Centre. Many thanks to Graeme and Dorothy Buchanan, MMM Associates from Rotorua who did the plumbing.

Hillcrest Baptist Church is within walking distance of the Taurima Youth Hostel in Hamilton. Both needed some painting and maintenance work so the MMM Work Teams did the two projects at the same time and could interchange the work force between the two. Andrew, David, Ian, were assisted by regular Associate helpers; Rose-Mary Hunt, Rob Ray and Fraser Barrett. In a letter sent later from Hillcrest Baptist Church by Lead Elder, Mark Row, he stated: “I wish to express our sincere appreciation for the work that your team undertook. It goes far beyond the physical work. The obvious difference that was made in such a short time has propelled the overall project very close to the point of completion. More importantly, it has helped lift the spirits and give a boost to those involved in the work here.”

In October David, Ian and Rod went down to Waikanae for three weeks to do alterations to a guest house at Ngatiawa (Urban Vision). The Work Team was glad of help from Don Campbell who travelled up from Porirua. Don knew how to drive the Bobcat and so the foundations got dug, see picture above. This project took three weeks and the team enjoyed the fellowship and the contemplative devotion times each day before commencing work. Finished project pictured below.

Andrew has been helping Leif Pedersen from Capernway Bible School, Cambridge, with alterations to his house to provide a bedroom with a wheelchair access ensuite for Leif's son Lucas, pictured right, who has Spinabifida. Andrew and Tracy and family enjoyed warm fellowship with the Pederson family, see picture above right. Thanks to Fraser Barrett for helping with the gib stopping and painting.

After MMM Conference, David, Ian, Andrew and Rod started a large project at Sonshine Ranch, Clevedon. A dining room, lounge, office and reception area is being added to the existing “round barn” which has served the camp well but has limited capacity. Horses and outdoor education are a big part of camps held at the Sonshine Ranch. The project was a real ‘uniting of nations’ with Andrew from America, Rod from Australia, camp staff from Switzerland and Germany, along with NZers working together. A group of young people from Switzerland and Germany training in Christian camp work also helped with the building. See two pictures below.

Mid/late November, David, Ian, Rose-Mary, John Baty and Rob repaired and painted the home of Francis and Timo Tagaloa, pictured right. Timo works with Athletes in Action and is Chaplain to the NZ Breakers basketball team. Francis is the Operating Manager for Tandem Ministries (formerly Campus Crusade for Christ) in Auckland. At present they are preparing outreach work for the Rugby World Cup to be held in NZ next year.

South Island:

MMM Associates and volunteers in the South Island have been busy working and sharing great times of fellowship together. In mid October; Clive Dennis, Bart Gilmore, Mitchell Hewson, Stan Schroder, Neville and Pauline Stewart and Stan Zwies, transformed the foyer of the Mount Hutt Elim Church in Methven. They removed the timber paneling and replaced it with gjb board, and painted it white, making the area much lighter as you can see with the 'before' and 'after' pictures. They also made and fitted doors for a cupboard and pantry unit. Great team work!

The beginning of November found many of the same people at the Oxford Baptist Church, 60 Km's north-west of Christchurch. Cliff Hatton a builder/farmer from Darfield, joined the team for this project. This is a growing church and the extension the team has built will provide 100 more seats. As well as extending the auditorium the team helped replace the roof on the existing church.

Fiji

Bill and Pam Todd

As I write, I am sitting at my laptop in our caravan, back here in NZ. The last few months seem to have been a whirlwind of activity and busy-ness.

In the last week of August we commenced the mammoth job of laying almost a thousand floor tiles at the Chinese Evangelical Fellowship near Nadi. We were blessed to have Semi, David Ah Kee (ex Lami) and Henry from Nadi Brethren Deaf Community working with us, together with the Youth of the Chinese Church. It was a "full-on" week, and we were pleased when Friday rolled around – we all nursed sore knees etc over the weekend. See picture on right.

In September we delivered a newly built wardrobe unit to Rakesh and Rachel of Marine Reach, see below right. They were so excited to receive it, and we enjoyed a "thank-you" lunch of freshly caught fish.

We also visited the Tavakubu Community Church near Lautoka and met with the elders, regarding the progress of plans for a new house/kindergarten to be built on the property for the deaf community. The accommodation is for Mesaki and his family, who many of you will know. The plans have now been revised and are with an architect in Lautoka. It is hoped that this project will be able to commence around March 2011.

The month of October flashed by, with two teams coming to Fiji from NZ. The first, a small team of five from Nelson worked at the Fiji Bible College. We had a great time and thoroughly enjoyed working with them and the local boys from the Bible College. Then, with no time to waste, we were off to Lami to meet Peter Scott's team to put the roof on the Lami Gospel Church. At that point life went slightly "pear-shaped" for Bill and I. Firstly Bill was very sick with a bronchial infection which he could not shake and spent four days in bed. Then we decided to return to NZ earlier than we had planned, due to the health of my parents. It was a bonus, however, to be back in NZ for the MMM Conference in November, which was a real encouragement to us, catching up with many of the MMM'ers from around NZ and meeting new ones from Australia, Zambia, and the International Board.

Being away from Nadi quite a lot of the time, meant sewing classes were interrupted. However, we did manage to complete a few more projects. The ladies are getting more adventurous and looking forward to next year's classes. A small article printed in the Fiji Times newspaper, also generated interest from other women's groups.

What's on the horizon for 2011? Firstly, a few smaller projects to complete: a couple more wardrobes to make for a Marine Reach family, security and fly screens for the Chinese Church, painting the exterior of the Sikituru Church and of course ongoing work at Lami and the commencement of the Tavakubu project (hopefully). So, do not feel you have to be part of a larger team – feel free to come and live and work alongside us on some of these smaller projects. You (and they) will be equally blessed.

Thanks to all those who have worked with us this year, to bless so many folk in Fiji. We pray that you all have a blessed Christmas and resolve to come to Fiji sometime during the New Year !

Saturday 2nd of October saw 5 people from Mapua (near Nelson) winging their way to Fiji ready to help the locals in a practical way. We were Roger Edwards, Rex and Diana Marshall and Ross and Jillian McLay.

On arrival we were met by Bill and Pam Todd who are the MMM Project Co ordinators in Fiji and driven to Fiji College of Theology in Lautoka where Neil and Annette Daniels were stationed. They are a couple from Australia who spend time every year at the college doing building and maintenance work.

Over the next two weeks the men did many big and little maintenance jobs around the college including rebuilding the deck of the Principal's house and re-spouting several buildings, repairing damaged ceiling panels, making some work benches for the College's new Vocation Centre and fixing up a small house-church in Ba. The women prepared and painted the interior of one of the accommodation houses. We also did some sightseeing, went on a cruise around some islands and went to a resort!

From my viewpoint it was a thoroughly worthwhile and wonderful experience. We got to do many interesting things (that the men never did) which included visiting several local women's craft groups (which Annette and Pam lead), learning to make Roti, visiting some of the women close to the college and even getting our toenails painted! When we left at 6am two weeks later all the college boys sang us the Fijian Farewell song, it was an emotional time. The whole experience exceeded my expectations and we are all keen to return. Jillian McLay

The "A" Team in Fiji

Keith Taylor

On Monday the 18th of October, an MMM Work Team of five men landed at Nausori airport in Suva, Fiji. They were there to put the roof on the new church for Lami Gospel. The team consisted of Peter Scott (team leader), Jeremy and Aaron Bennett, Liam Jones and myself, Keith Taylor who were all from NZ. Plus we were joined by Frank Luita from Sausavu.

We got straight into the job. First off a few things had to be tidied up ready for a smooth start the next day. The bang, it was all action. In one and a half days the roof was on and tacked into place. Everybody had an assigned task and things ran smoothly. The locals could not believe it had all happened so quickly. Those first three days were the only fine days we had until we were due to leave for home. Guess who's in charge of the weather? Then it was catching breaks in the weather to finish the job, including putting in 3,000 teck screws to make the roof hold in a hurricane.

By the end of the first week we were beginning to wonder what we would be doing for the next week. But a collection was taken up at the Sunday service and enough funds were donated to enable us to work on framing up the rear wall of the church.

Now that we had the roof on over our heads the weather could not affect us the same. Sourcing material could sometimes cause a blip! It was always promised – tomorrow! But which tomorrow!

Three of the local boys; Simi, Suli and David worked with us and it was great to interact with them and share their enthusiasm.

A trip up the Navua River to visit a waterfall was a highlight. This was where the film "Anaconda" had been made. This was preceded by a cultural village experience. This proved great for the local boys who had never had the opportunity to do something like that before.

I enjoyed the wonderful food the church ladies produced for our lunches and dinners. All in all it was a wonderful experience and a blessing for all involved.

Building the Kingdom - Destiny Haven

By Graham Rogers

As we drove through the gates of Destiny Haven into this picturesque rural setting in the Hunter Valley, NSW, Australia, a sense of tranquility seemed to descend upon us. Perhaps it was because the building appeared to be empty – nobody could be found. The place almost seemed deserted but shortly after finding the reception area someone appeared to greet Peter Taylor and myself with a welcoming cup of coffee.

Before long the kitchen was flooded with vibrancy, as those who made Destiny Haven their home emerged from their morning devotional time. There was rejoicing, laughter and even some singing, and one could not immediately help feeling that something special was going. We were welcomed like old friends and immediately became part of the family. The Spirit of God was so evident, that any barriers that might have been erected were soon broken down, and the whole family of staff and girls exhibited amazing warmth.

I was there to hear the story of Janine and Lewis Epere, pictured above, the founders and managers of Destiny Haven, but here was their story being lived out in front of me. The radiance of these two servants of God was amazing and I saw a snippet of what it must have been like to be in the presence of Moses when he descended the mountain after meeting with God. When I sat with Janine and Lewis to hear the details of their journey I was staggered at the depth of despair they had come from, the agony that they had experienced and the suffering that almost took their lives. But my heart rejoiced as I was again reminded of our Saviour's grace and His redeeming power.

But how did the change happen? What bought them to their knees and who were the people that helped them understand their destiny and to create a haven for others who now suffered similar life issues? These were the questions going through my mind. I had to hear the story and get the answers.

Janine grew up in a Christian family but after a series of difficult circumstances, found solace in her music and creative talent. She became part of the "A" list cocaine night clubs, which had lured her into the bright lights of what she thought was fame and fortune. The consequence of this was the immersion into the drug scene which saw her spiral out of control and into a $1,000 a day heroin habit.

Lewis grew up in the gang scene in Auckland, New Zealand that controlled the streets and the drug scene and this filled the void that he had in his life as a young man. He also became immersed in the drug culture with a habit equal to that of Janine's. The only way to satisfy their habits was to become dealers, which propelled them into major player status in the Kings Cross drug culture. Janine was arrested for selling drugs to a policeman and placed on a two year good behaviour bond in the care of a Salvation Army rehabilitation centre. Their lives were out of control, and their existence hung by a thread. The joy of a new baby being brought into their family harnessed the drug abuse for a while, but within three months they were back using drugs even heavier than before. Amongst this turmoil something made them realise they needed help.

Sherwood Cliffs, a rehab centre for single men and married couples, became the first haven on their journey to sobriety and hopefully change. It was here they met some special people who had a profound impact on their lives.

Lewis was a practical man and one day he was intrigued as he heard the thud of hammers driving nails into wood. What he discovered were some remarkable people who had come to Sherwood Cliffs to help with the maintenance of the buildings. This was his first acquaintance with any MMM'ers.

Both Janine and Lewis struck up relationships with them and got to know a little of what they were doing, who they were, and why they would spend their own time helping maintain and develop the buildings at Sherwood Cliffs. What Lewis discovered was Christianity being lived out in a practical way, and he wanted to know more. The families formed a relationship that became significant in their journey and has lasted to this day.

Janine was the first to accept the saving grace of Jesus and as Lewis looked on he was frightened by the change he saw. There were no lights flashing for him at this stage but as he watch and took in what was happening, and with the help of a Christian mentor, he had what he described as a "Road to Damascus" experience. This hardened man was broken and wept, something he had not done for twenty years.

As this amazing couple shared their experience with me I understood the power of MMM's ministry. I remembered the word to an old gospel song that said "you're the only Jesus some will ever see" and realised how appropriate these words were in this situation. At Sherwood Cliffs, as the Walkers and Dawsons served God through the giving of their time and talents, Janine and Lewis saw Jesus. The ministry of MMM is significant in building the Kingdom of God. Today, Janine and Lewis run a powerful ministry at Destiny Haven where the lives of women with major life issues are changed. Here in this spiritual haven, the work of MMM continues to play a significant part in this life changing ministry.

I was shown by some of the girls the re-roofing work that had been completed, the pool fencing that was erected, the gardens that had been established and many other projects provided through MMM's ministry. I heard from these women what MMM meant to them and realised that today, as at Sherwood Cliffs, people are seeing Jesus through the volunteers and the relationships that are built.

In recent days MMM workers have transformed a shed into a worship Chapel. Over one hundred people come from around the area to join Destiny Haven in their Church services once a month. Many are non believers searching for their own destiny, and have witnessed something special happening in this place.

Much of this ministry has only been made possible through the work of MMM and its dedication to building the Kingdom. What rejoicing there will be when those who have given themselves to this ministry hear the word of their Master when He says "well done good and faithful servants".
